Back. — Blank. Colored lavender. Edges, top and bottom, yellow.

TECHNIQUE : Figures and ornamentation in relief[1]. Thick smooth glaze. Scarab originally fastened by means of reddish resinous substance.

Both upper corners and lower right corner broken off. The breaks smeared with soft yellowish putty-like substance.

BIBL. : Journal d'entrée du Musée, n° 31238.

12194. Pectoral, as amulet. — Yellow and lavender fayence. — Height 0 m. 081 mill., length 0 m. 098 mill. — Gaou, 1895 (pl. XI).

FORM : Like n° 12193, except upper back edge (not front edge) is pierced by three holes on left, two on right. Instead of hole for scarab, an oval disc either set in or cut loose from surrounding background, level with surrounding purple background and of the same color and glaze. Above it, sun's disc of red glazed fayence set in.

Front. — Like n° 12193, but Isis on left instead of Ma'at. Row of flowers across bottom not so deep nor so well formed.

Back. — Blank. Yellow with lavender showing through in places.

[1] Yellow and red laid on over purple, see n° 12194 (end).

Technique : Figures and ornamentation in relief like n° 12193. Yellow and red laid on over purple; see back. Vertical lines on cornice incised, and filled with purple and red, but purple is visible under the red in places[1]. Glaze as on n° 12193.
Brown stains, especially on heads and shoulders of goddesses.

Bibl. : Journal d'entrée du Musée, n° 31239.

12195. Pectoral, as amulet. — Blue and yellow fayence.—Height 0 m. 068 mill., length 0 m. 085 mill. — Siut, January 1895 (pl. XII).

Form : Plate in shape of front of naos. Upper back edge pierced by two holes on each side.

Front. — Solar bark with upright scarab between Isis on right and Nephthys (?) on left. Surrounded by block-pattern border. Above, hollow cornice with vertical blue lines. Between cornice and front, half round strip. Scarab, blue, originally gilded; legs of scarab, black; lines on back of scarab yellow. Hair of figures, tips of rudders, spot (horizon?) on middle of boat, marks on prow of boat, black. Background of scarab, red. Background of rest of front and lines on cornice, blue (inclined to purple). Figures, bark, blocks, edges, yellow.

Back. — Ḏed-sign between two knots, dark brown on yellow background.

Technique : Body of scarab, set in. Lines on back of scarab inlaid (yellow). The whole pectoral is blue paste, scratched and filled with blue before glazing. Red around scarab was filled in later, unglazed. Black and dark brown, painted on[2].
Upper edge in front, chipped.

Bibl. : Journal d'entrée du Musée, n° 31035.

12196. Pectoral, as amulet. — Wood gilded and inlaid with stones of different colors. — Height 0 m. 11 cent., length 0 m. 141 mill. — Sheikh Abd-el-Gurnah[3], 14 March 1896. Tomb of [hieroglyphs] (pl. XII).

Form : Plate shaped like front of naos. Hole in center with scarab. Upper back edge pierced by two holes on each side.

Front. — Scarab, beautifully worked out of some resinous substance. On the left ḏed-sign inlaid in blue, red and light blue. On the right, girdle knot of carnelian set in. Around this, block-pattern border in blue, red, and light green (originally light blue?). Above a row of long pendants, inlaid in light green, red and blue and

[1] Apparently purple laid over whole and baked, then yellow and red laid on and baked again.
[2] Appears to have been baked a second time, after scarab had been set in and black had been painted on.
[3] N°s 12196-12201 were found in same tomb.

separated by small red dots (inlaid). On hollow cornice row of vertical stripes, each inlaid in red, blue, light green.

Back. — Bottom of scarab with seven lines of incised signs :

Under the signs in line 1, are visible the signs having been previously written. In line 2, under the signs, are also visible the signs.

On the left Isis, on the right Nephthys kneeling with uplifted hands each on a nb (gold) sign, all in relief. Border, cornice, etc., corresponding to front but simply marked out with incised lines and gilded, not inlaid and rather carelessly done.

Technique : Beautiful work. Heavy smooth gilding. Inlaid stones held by cream colored paste. Blue and light green glass. Red (except scarab and knot) appears to be tortoise shell and is in places swollen and discolored, in some places sprung. The scarab (of some resinous material) is crackled; one side of tip and one other smaller piece on right side are gone (whole when found).

Bibl. : Catalogue, 1895, n° 1388; Journal d'entrée du Musée, n° 31379.

12197. Pectoral, as amulet. — Wood, gilded and inlaid with different coloured stones. — Height 0 m. 07 cent., length 0 m. 086 mill. — With n° 12196 (pl. XII).

Form : Plate shaped like front of naos. Upper back edge pierced by two holes on each side.

Back. — Mummy, anointed with oil, upright facing right. Before it, offering table with offerings and in front of table facing left standing man, holding censor in right hand and pouring liquid from a vase into a basin with his left. Border and cornice ornamentation in simple lines, corresponding to that of front. In relief and gilded.

Technique : Black, obsidian. Light blue, glass. Blue, lapis lazuli (imitation). Red, shell (?). The leash of the whip and the pattern on basis on which jackal rests, are painted in red and black on the wood and covered with thin plates of clear glass, set in. The inlays are set with fine cream coloured paste. Heavy smooth gilding.
Some red stones, swollen and broken. Other stones discolored in places.

Bibl. : Catalogue, 1895, n° 1388; Journal d'entrée du Musée, n° 31380. See n° 12196.

12198. Necklace used for suspending pectoral [1]. — Glass and gilded wood. — Length of long beads 0 m. 04 cent. to 0 m. 046 mill., diameter of spherical beads 0 m. 008 mill. to 0 m. 01 cent. — With n° 12196 (pl. XII).

Beads[2]. — Twelve (12) long blue beads, eight (8) light blue ones, and eight (8) of gilded wood, — in all twenty-eight (28) long beads. Thirty-two (32) blue spherical beads, twenty-eight (28) light blue spherical beads, sixteen red (16) ones, and twelve (12) of gilded wood, — in all, 88 small beads. Total 116 beads of all kinds.

Arrangement : Two pairs of strings, one of which passed over each shoulder. All four strings, (2) alike.

Technique : Heavy smooth gilding (like on n°s 12196-12197) laid over a layer of plaster. The wooden beads alone are symmetrically made; the others all show more or less irregularity. All are pierced lengthwise.

Two long blue beads and one wooden bead are broken in two. Three of the smaller beads are broken; several, corroded or discolored.

Bibl. : Journal d'entrée du Musée, n° 31381. See n° 12196.

12199. Pectoral, as amulet. — Wood gilded and inlaid with colored stones, glass, etc. — Height 0 m. 116 mill., length 0 m. 144 mill. — With n° 12196 (pl. XII).

Form : Like n° 12196, but without the raised strip separating the hollow cornice from the front.

Front. — Scarab, of hard green stone with whitish speckles, set in hole. Scarab similar to that n° 12196, but less carefully cut. On each side of scarab, and facing it, a kneeling goddess with uplifted hands and above each goddess an udat-eye, to the left a right eye and to the right a left eye. Surrounded by block border, similar to n° 12196, consisting of large blocks separated by three stripes in the following order: large blue block, red, light green, blue stripes; large red block, blue, light green, red stripes; large blue block, etc. Ornamentation above, row of pendants like n° 12196, but without intervening red dots. Cornice like n° 12196.

(1) Found in position on the mummy holding the large pectoral (n° 12196) in front and the small one (n° 12197) behind (Daressy).

(2) In this order when found (Daressy). Large beads show the series, dark blue, gilt, light blue, repeated. Small beads show the series, light blue, red, gilt, dark blue, repeated to middle of the chain; in the rest of the chain the order is confused.

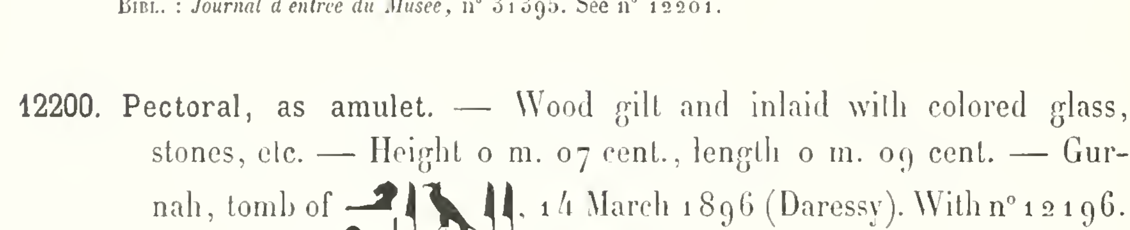

Back. — Bottom of scarab with 9 (?) lines of inscriptions, the first 2 (?) of which are covered with pitch :[1]

On left of scarab a girdle knot inlaid in blue and red. On right, a ded-sign inlaid in blue, light blue, and red. Ornamentation on border and cornice, in simple lines corresponding to front (similar to nos 12196-12197).

Technique : Two small boards set together, covered with loosely woven linen, a thin layer of fine plaster and gilded. Blues are glass. Red is carnelian. White is ivory (?). Set in with a fine cream coloured paste.

Gilding much scaled off. Smeared with pitch in places. One stone lost out of front; several out of back.

Bibl. : Journal d'entrée du Musée, n° 31395. See n° 12201.

12200. Pectoral, as amulet. — Wood gilt and inlaid with colored glass, stones, etc. — Height 0 m. 07 cent., length 0 m. 09 cent. — Gurnah, tomb of [hieroglyphs], 14 March 1896 (Daressy). With n° 12196.

Form : Like n° 12199. Three holes through upper back edge on each side, four of them with bits of string.

Front. — Man seated on a stool holding with right hand a lotus (?) flower to his nose and in the left a bouquet (?), his head anointed (?). Before him a low stand with offerings (?). Then, facing him, a man one foot advanced, holding a bouquet (?) in his uplifted right hand, a single flower (?) in his left. Border and cornice like n° 12199 omitting the row of pendants.

Back. — Incisions in which stones were set, representing a.....? between two jackals on pedestals facing each other[2].

Technique : Colors like n° 12199. Gilt laid directly on wood.

Gilding and stones, entirely gone from back. Many stones lost out of front.

See nos 12201 and 12196.

[1] See n° 5231 and Lepsius, Todtenbuch, Cap. lxv, l. 34 ff.

[2] The pectoral was in bad condition and has been much repaired. It is uncertain whether the stones in flowers, etc., have been correctly reset.

12201. Necklace used for supporting pectorals. — Glass and gilded wood. — Length of long beads, about 0 m. 037 mill., diameter of small beads, about 0 m. 007 mill. — Gurnah, tomb of [hieroglyphs], 14 March 1896, with n° 12196.

Beads. — Six (6) long blue beads (cf. n° 12198), eight (8) long red ones, eight (8) long gilt ones, eight (8) long light blue ones, — in all 30 long beads. Forty seven (47) small blue beads, seven (7) dark blue ones, forty-two (42) small light blue ones, twelve (12) small carnelian beads, three (3) rows of three beads joined together, of gilded wood, — in all 111 small beads. Total : 141 beads.

Arrangement : The presence of the beads composed of three small beads joined in a row, indicates that the necklace was composed of three strands instead of two (cf. n° 12198)[1].

Two blue beads broken. Wooden beads in bad state. Gilding like on n° 12199.

Bibl. : Journal d'entrée du Musée, n° 31929. This necklace with the pectorals n°s 12199, 12200, belonged to the second mummy found in the tomb of [hieroglyphs] (Daressy, Brugsch). — Cf. n°s 12196-12198. See n° 12196.

12202. Pectoral, as amulet. — Wood gilded and inlaid. — Height 0 m. 094 mill., length 0 m. 10 cent. — Abusir, tomb of the dogs, January 1889.

Form : Front of naos. Back upper edge pierced on each side by three holes. Each group of holes joined by a groove on back.

Front. — Anubis standing with arms hanging, before Osiris seated on a throne. Below two white stones (?) glazed green. Above and on each side block border in the following order : large transparent block, red stripe, light blue stripe; grey block, light blue stripe, red stripe; transparent block, etc. [2]. Hollow cornice, a row of vertical stripes, each inlaid with a red, a grey; a light blue, and a grey stone.

Back. — No traces of inlaying (cf. n° 12197).

Technique : Set together out of three pieces of wood held by two pegs driven in from above. In the lower part the grain of the wood runs vertically, in the other two horizontally. The transparent stones are feldspath; the grey stones are feldspath laid in a bed of greenish blue paste. Other coloured stones are apparently glass. All inlaid pieces are held by a fine yellow paste. The background was covered with a layer of plaster and gilded. The Anubis originally held a staff in his right hand; staff and extended right arm now filled with plaster. Skirt of Anubis not inlaid.

[1] Present arrangement modern.

[2] In the middle block of the upper row, there is now glued (with modern glue) a small scarab of green glazed stone with the signs : [hieroglyphs].

Preservation : The lower piece has shrunk so that the upper parts now project on each side. Gilding, plaster and many stones gone from front. Ornamentation on back entirely gone.

Bibl. : Journal d'entrée du Musée, n° 28711.

12203. Pectoral, as amulet. — Name of [hieroglyphs]. — Wood covered with plaster and varnished. — Height 0 m. 113 mill., length 0 m. 161 mill. — Gurnet Murrai, tomb of [hieroglyphs] (pl. XII).

Form : Front of naos. Back upper edge, pierced by three holes on each side.

Front. — Solar bark, with upright scarab between Ma'at on the left and Nephthys on the right. Surrounded by a block pattern border. Above, hollow cornice with row of vertical stripes[1] — dark green, red, dark green, light green, dark green, red, dark green[2], etc.

Back. — Representation of bottom of scarab painted on, with eight (8) lines of inscription. On each side, a ḏed-sign :

Technique : Front, figures and border in relief. Covered with plaster, painted and varnished[3]. Greens are ground mineral substances, laid on thick.

Slightly cracked. Varnish turned yellow.

Bibl. : Journal d'entrée du Musée, n° 27264.

12204. Pectoral, as amulet. — Wood and black slate (?). — Height 0 m. 136 mill., length 0 m. 184 mill. — Gurnet Murrai, tomb of Sn-nḏm (pl. XII).

Form : Front of naos pierced by oval hole containing a large stone scarab. Upper back edge pierced on each side by three holes in which are still knotted the ends of the supporting necklace with four beads on the strings, on one side (a green, a red and a green one on one string; a green one on another) and two beads (green), lying beside the pectoral. A string consisting of 6 to 8 threads loosely twisted together, passes through each hole[4]. Each string is knotted with a simple knot before entering the upper hole, and each three is then knotted together outside the

[1] Owing to the fact that the varnish has turned yellow, it is difficult to determine the original color of the background.

[2] The dark green was originally a blue or blue green.

[3] Technique same as n° 12206.

[4] Thus there were three strands to the necklace, cf. n°s 12198 and 12201.

lower holes with an ordinary double knot, two strings being laid together and tied with the third one (?)[1].

Technique : Covered with plaster and painted[2]. No trace of varnish. Scarab set in with a fine yellow plaster. Inscription filled with yellow (?). Blue, yellow, and green consist of ground crystalline substance laid on thick. Design laid out in red lines (except hollow cornice) and with a mistake at stern of bark. Shrinking of wood around the stone scarab has split the pectoral from side to side.

Bibl. : Journal d'entrée du Musée, n° 27261.

12205. Pectoral, as amulet. — Wood. — Height 0 m. 122 mill., length 0 m. 166 mill. — Gurnet Murrai, tomb of Sn-nḏm (pl. XII).

Form : Front of naos. Back upper edge pierced by three holes on each side half way between middle and side.

Front. — On left, figure of Osiris looking to the right; facing it, a figure of Horus; both squatting and holding an ʿnḫ-sign on the knee. Border, cornice and top like n° 12204.

Back. — Girdle knot between two ḏed-signs, surrounded by border and surmounted by row of lines like n° 12204. But the holes for the necklace are not painted.

Technique : Like n° 12204.
Perfect.

Bibl. : Journal d'entrée du Musée, n° 27262. See n° 12204.

(1) Impossible to determine manner in which double knot is tied without destroying the knot.
(2) Technique same as n° 12205.

12206. Pectoral, as amulet. — Wood. — Height 0 m. 094 mill., length 0 m. 13 cent. — Gurnet Murrai, tomb of Sn-ndm (pl. XIII).

Form : Front of naos. Three holes on each side through back upper edge. On the right, a string of 6 to 8 threads loosely twisted, in each hole; all three knotted together below holes, apparently like n° 12204.

Front. — Jackal lying on naos. Border and cornice like n° 12203.

Back. — Ded-sign between two knots. No border nor other ornamentation.

Technique : On front the background is sunk throwing jackal, whip, naos and border (as on n° 12203) into relief. Covered with plaster and varnished like n° 12203.

Varnish turned yellow.

Bibl. : Journal d'entrée du Musée, n° 27265. See n° 12203.

12207. Pectoral, as amulet. — Wood and slate. — Height 0 m. 088 mill., length 0 m. 105 mill. — Gurnet Murrai, tomb of Sn-ndm (pl. XIII).

Form : Front of naos with hole in which is set a stone scarab. Back upper edge pierced by four holes on each side, two of which on each side contain ends of strings. Ends of strings double knotted below in a half bow-knot (fig. 1 of the plate). Strings of 6 to 8 threads. The other two holes (c and d) are empty. Hole c is double, one channel running up through back edge, and the other running down obliquely and coming out on face of pectoral.

Front. — Solar bark with upright scarab resting on the horizon. Isis on right, Nephthys on the left in attitude of n° 12204. Block border and cornice in simple lines. In front of Isis, the signs [hieroglyphs]; in front of Nephthys [hieroglyphs]. On the back of the scarab, the lines are painted yellow (white), with two udat-eyes, two [hieroglyph] signs and two ba-birds also painted yellow.

Side edges. — Both marked with black lines (fig. 2 of the plate).

Back. — Bottom of scarab with seven lines of inscription, painted yellow. On each side a ded-sign surmounted by an udat-eye facing scarab. Outlines, all black. Border and top like front.

Top. — Marked by at least two parallel stripes running lengthwise, — originally blue(?) with black outlines.

Technique : Covered with extremely thin layer of plaster, painted and varnished. Scarab painted and varnished.

Scaled off on edges. Split by shrinking of wood around scarab. Discolored to a dark greenish hue so that design is indistinct and the colors are not clearly distinguishable.

Bibl. : Journal d'entrée du Musée, n° 27267.

12208. Pectoral, as amulet. — Hard blue frit. — Height 0 m. 104 mill., length 0 m. 104 mill. (pl. XIII).

Form : Front of naos. Cornice deeply hollowed and separated from front by raised stripe. Depression in cornice for receiving sun's disc, and another in middle of front for scarab. Back upper edge, pierced by two holes on each side.

Technique : Hard well baked blue frit. Lines very roughly incised.

Broken in two obliquely through the middle.

Bibl. : Maspero, Catalogue, n° 4322.

12209. Pectoral with the name of [hieroglyphs] [1], as amulet. — Bluish green glazed steatite. — Height 0 m. 091 mill., length 0 m. 094 mill. — Saqqarah, November 1858 (pl. XIII).

Form : Front of naos. Raised semi-cylindrical strip between cornice and front (a). Back upper edge pierced by two holes on each side.

Front. — Apis-bull on naos, facing left. In front of him an offering table and a male figure standing with left foot advanced and with uplifted hands, facing bull. Block border. Vertical lines on hollow cornice. One line of inscription.

Back. — Jackal on naos facing right. Before him, male figure standing, right foot advanced, hands uplifted, facing jackal, toes of sandals turned up. One line of inscription. Border and upper part like front except that the raised semi-cylindrical strip is replaced by an ornament in simple incised lines such as is used on round mouldings.

[1] Bears the same name as n° 12214, and is probably the companion (or back) piece to n° 12214 Cf. n°s 12196-12197.

Technique : Heavy glaze. Color unevenly distributed. Upper left corner, cracked (in piercing holes?) before glazing. Design and ornamentation drawn in simple incised lines.

12210. Pectoral, as amulet. — Green glazed steatite. — Height 0 m. 07 cent., length 0 m. 102 mill. — Saqqarah[1], February 1860 (pl. XIII).

Form : Front of naos. Raised semi-cylindrical stripe between cornice and front. Back upper edge pierced by two holes on each side.

Front. — On left, jackal-headed human figure, facing right, seated on throne, holding ⚲-sceptre in left hand. Before it, an offering table with a pot. On right, facing left, human figure, kneeling on left knee, left hand uplifted. On both sides and below, block border as on n° 12209. Above, vertical lines.

Back. — Ḏed-sign with two arms holding up a sun's disc. On each side, a girdle-knot. Surrounded on all sides by block border as on front. No lines above.

Technique : Bright glaze. Color unevenly distributed. Partly drawn in simple lines, partly sunk relief (man's head, sun's disc). Cracked before (or in the process of) glazing.

Upper front edge, left side, piece broken off.

Bibl. : Maspero, Catalogue, n° 4352; Journal d'entrée du Musée, n° 6966. See nos 12190, 12213.

12211. Upper right corner of pectoral. — Bluish green glazed stone (white). — Height 0 m. 042 mill., length 0 m. 06 cent. (pl. XIII).

Form : Like n° 12210.

Front. — On right, upper part of standing man holding ⚲ in each hand. Beginning of two lines of inscription; upper part of two objects (resting on table of offerings?); upper part of ⚲-staff. Border and cornice like n° 12210.

Back. — Upper part of ḏed-sign, with arms and sun's disc, and on left upper part of knot, — like n° 12210. Border as on n° 12210, but above them is a row of alternate ⚲ and ●.

Technique : Design in simple incised lines, except sun's disc which is in sunk relief. Bright thick vitreous glaze. Color well distributed.

[1] See nos 12190, 12213.

12212 a, b. Two pieces of the same pectoral. — Blue green glazed stone (white). — Height (a) o m. 037 mill., (b) o m. 045 mill., length (a) o m. 046 mill., (b) o m. 07 cent.[1] (pl. XIV).

Form : Front of naos. Raised rectangular moulding between cornice and front (a). Lower edge, wavy. Back upper edge pierced by two holes on each side. Pierced by oval hole for scarab.

Front. — Solar bark with scarab (missing) between two goddesses. Block border. Below is a row of nymphæa flowers. On cornice, winged sun's disc.

Technique : On front, design in relief on sunk background. On back, design in simple incised lines. Scarab fastened with a fine, hard, brown paste. Bright thick vitreous glaze. Color dark and well distributed.

12213. Pectoral, as amulet. — Blue green glazed stone, inlaid. — Height o m. 08 cent., length o m. 09 cent. — Saqqarah[2], February 1860 (pl. XIV).

Front of naos with moulding and hollow cornice. Back upper edge pierced by two small holes on each side.

Technique : Central field and nymphæa border, in relief with sunk background. Background filled up by inlaying red glass, held by fine red paste. Large blocks in block border inlaid with red glass (held by red paste) and lapis lazuli (held by blue paste). The small blocks are simply laid off with incised lines. The blue glaze of the stone, where it appears, seems to have been covered with layer of fine white plaster and gilded. Glazed before inlaying. On the back, the design is laid out partly in incised lines and partly in sunk relief. Border, in simple incised lines. Evenly colored. Glaze, dull except in places (due to poor preservation?).
Glaze inlay in lower right corner, fallen out.

Bibl. : Maspero, Catalogue, n° 4344; Journal d'entrée du Musée, n° 6967. See n°s 12190, 12210.

[1] Originally, height about o m. 095 mill., length about o m. 12 cent.
[2] See n°s 12190, 12210.

12214. Pectoral in name of [hieroglyphs], as amulet. — Blue green glazed stone, inlaid. — Height 0 m. 098 mill., length 0 m. 098 mill. — Saqqarah, November 1858 (pl. XIV).

Form : Front of naos. Hollow cornice, rounded moulding. Back upper edge pierced by two holes on each side.

Back. — Osiris, offering table and standing man about like nº 12213. Block border, moulding-ornament instead of moulding and row of vertical lines above.

Technique : On front, the background is sunk and inlaid with red and green speckled stones and with lapis lazuli (or imitation), held in place by a hard fine red paste. The sun's disc on hollow cornice, the red and the blue blocks in border, and the spaces between the flowers below, are also inlaid in the same manner. Bright glaze. Color unevenly distributed. Glazed before inlaying, so that the sunk background also shows glaze where sets have fallen out. On the back, the design is in simple incised lines.

Broken in two from top to bottom. Left part, much discolored; red stones swollen and corroded. Scarab, sun's disc and a number of sets, lost out.

Bibl. : Maspero, Catalogue, nº 4323 ; Journal d'entrée du Musée, nº 3170. See nº 12209.

12215. Pectoral, as amulet. — Soft greyish stone (slate?). — Height 0 m. 08 c., length 0 m. 088 mill. — Huber collection (pl. XV).

Form : Front of naos. Rounded moulding. Back upper edge pierced by two holes on each side.

Back. — Large scarab with open wings, supporting an oval with six lines, five of which are inscribed. A ḏed-sign below on each side of scarab. Above, a kneeling man, two posts(?), an udat-eye, a horned disc, an ape and a flower. Above block border; on sides and below, border with simple oblique lines.

Technique : Front, design in relief on sunk background. Sunk background inlaid with light blue, green (originally light blue?) and red glass. Sun's disc also inlaid with red glass. Border and cornice, design made with incised lines. Back, design laid out in incised lines. Sun's disc in upper left corner inlaid (missing).

Lower left corner broken off and glued on, — lighter colored and inlaid piece discolored. Upper right corner, broken off. Both scarabs gone.

Bibl. : Maspero, Catalogue, nº 4343 ; Journal d'entrée du Musée, nº 4958.

12216. Pectoral in name of , as amulet[1]. — Grey slate, inlaid. — Height o m. 067 mill., length o m. 084 mill. — Saqqarah, 14 December 1874 (pl. XV).

Form : Front of naos. Hollow cornice and rounded moulding. Back upper edge pierced by two holes on each side.

Technique : Design on front is in relief on sunk background. Large blocks of border are inlaid (stone or glass) and held by a blue paste; the spaces between are covered with plaster and gilded. Traces of same white plaster on all other parts not inlaid. The red glass inlay pieces have only a thin crust of red on the surface and appear to be light blue green underneath. Back, design partly in sunk relief and partly in incised lines.

Inlaid pieces much discolored. Many inlaid pieces lost out. Gilding much damaged.

Bibl. : Maspero, Catalogue, n° 4339; Journal d'entrée du Musée, n° 22225.

12217. Pectoral in name of , as amulet. — Greenish slate, inlaid. — Height o m. 066 mill., length o m. 075 mill. — Saqqarah, 14 December 1874 (pl. XV).

Form : Like n° 12216.

Technique : Like n° 12216.

Upper right corner and tip of upper left corner, broken away. Some sets and most of gilding, disappeared.

Bibl. : Maspero, Catalogue, n° 4778; Journal d'entrée du Musée, n° 22224. See n° 12216.

[1] N° 12217 is the companion or back piece to n° 12216. N°s 12216, 12217 and 12260 were found at the same time and in the same place.

12218. Pectoral, as amulet. — Soft blackish grey slate. — Height 0 m. 097 mill., length 0 m. 11 cent. (pl. XVI).

Form : Front of naos. Back upper edge pierced by two holes on each side.

Front. — Large scarab between two small ones (all three missing). Below a *b*ꜣ-bird, a horizon and an offering table with a flower. On left, standing figure on a naos broken away. On right, Osiris standing (on a naos?). Above, two winged hawks, Isis, Nephthys and mummy (?); also, two vertical lines of inscription.

Back. — Oval with six inscribed lines and one blank one, as body of hawk with wings, tail, legs and head. On left Isis and Anubis, on right Nephthys and Osiris. Above, winged sun's disc.

Technique : Scarabs, sun's disc on hawk's heads, and sun's disc on back, set in. Design partly in incised lines and partly in sunk relief.

Broken in two. Middle of left side broken out. Lower right corner broken away. All inlaid pieces except one sun's disc, lost out.

12219. Pectoral, as amulet. — Green glazed stone. — Height 0 m. 086 mill., length 0 m. 093 mill. — Elephantine, June 1858 (scarab alone) (pl. XVI).

Form : Both sides alike — like front of naos. Front, with scarab[1] set in. Back upper edge, four holes on each side.

Front. — Three rows of figures. Lower row, three spaces. Small middle space, udat-eye, above ded-sign between two knots. On right, bearded god squatting on nb-sign facing right, standing ape-headed figure facing right, and standing man with uplifted hands facing left. On left, ape-headed god squatting on nb-sign facing left, jackal-headed god standing facing left, man with uplifted hands facing right.

Middle row. Solar bark with scarab on lotus flower (scarab extending across upper row), ape-headed god, two goddesses and Horus as helmsman.

Left border. Two standing apes, one ded-sign, two standing apes, knot, ded-sign, knot, ded-sign, knot.

Back. — Three rows of figures. Bottom row. Bark of the form of funeral bark with hawk, squatting deity (bull's-head?), squatting jackal-headed deity, kneeling man, woman (?) sitting on her heels.

(1) The fact that the scarab is entered alone in the Journal raises a doubt as to its belonging to the pectoral.

Second row. In middle, ded-sign; on right, kneeling Isis, standing ape, standing god; on left, kneeling Nephthys, standing ape and standing Anubis. — All facing ded-sign.

Technique : Figures in relief on sunk background. Bright thick glaze. Scarab of green stone with black speckles.

Stained and discolored to a blackish grey. Broken in two and glued.

Bibl. : Maspero, Catalogue, n° 4350; Journal d'entrée du Musée, n° 2105 (the scarab alone).

12220. Pectoral, as amulet. — Blackish grey slate. — Height 0 m. 055 mill., length 0 m. 065 mill. (pl. XVI).

Form : Front of naos, with scarab in high relief out of same piece of stone. Back upper edge pierced by one hole on each side.

Front. — Solar bark with scarab. Dog-headed ape on each extremity. On left Isis, on right Nephthys. In each upper corner, a sun's disc with rays with hands. Border on two sides. Vertical lines on cornice.

Back. — Oval (bottom of scarab) blank. Isis, Nephthys, two jackals and four udat-eyes as in figure.

Technique : Front, low relief on sunk background. Back, simple incised lines. Very roughly done. All of one piece of stone.

Corners chipped.

Bibl. : Maspero, Catalogue, n° 1557.

12221. Pectoral in name of [hieroglyphs], as amulet. — Height 0 m. 091 mill., length 0 m. 072 mill. — Saqqarah, March 1859 (pl. XVII).

Form : Front of naos, with hollow cornice and round moulding. On top, small hawk's head pierced from side to side as eyelet.

Front. — Scarab between two ☥-☥ signs. Block border. Vertical lines on hollow cornice.

Back. — Six lines of roughly incised hieroglyphics :

Technique : Scarab and plate cut out of one piece. Scarab in high relief; feathers and border in low relief.

Lower left corner broken off and glued on. Back of scarab, brussed.

Bibl. : Maspero, Catalogue, n° 4338; Journal d'entrée du Musée, n° 4646.

12222. Pectoral, as amulet. — Blue green glazed stone. — Height 0 m. 082 mill., length 0 m. 10 cent. — Abydos, May 1893 (pl. XVII).

Form : Front of naos. Upper front edge pierced by two holes on each side; fibres of a string in the right one. Block border: lines on cornice.

Front. — Scarab supporting a sun's disc, on which rests a solar bark with Horus and two apes.

Back. — Beginning on left, Isis with horned disc standing facing right. Osiris seated facing right, above him a flying scarab : standard with jackal facing right : offering table with nymphæa cærulæa, standing man with uplifted hands facing left. Behind him, Neit with crown of Lower Egypt. Above all, ten short vertical lines of inscription. Surrounded by simple incised lines.

Technique : Front, in relief, of udat-eyes, sun's disc, and back of scarab, apparently originally inlaid. Back, sunk relief or incised lines. The upper part (above line c) is a separate piece fastened on, in a manner at present not to be ascertained (glued?) before glazing; this piece suffered a fracture near middle also before glazing. Bright thick vitreous glaze. Color evenly distributed.

Bibl. : Wallis, Egyptian Ceramic Art; Journal d'entrée du Musée, n° 30346.

12223. Fragment of pectoral. — Soft blackish grey slate. — Height 0 m. 069 mill., length 0 m. 104 mill. — Karnak, salle hypostyle, near col. n° 13 (North), 12 December 1895 (Legrain) (pl. XVII).

Form : The form follows outline of the figures. Apparently not of naos form.

Back. — Seven horizontal lines of inscription. On each side a b3-bird above an udat-eye.

Technique : Front in relief. Back, incised lines. Two holes, pierced from front to back with greater diameter in front than behind (i, j). Signs on heads of goddesses, pierced (g, h). Two other holes, vertical in the thickness of the plate.
Fragment.
